

Airport in Madrid (Aeropuerto Barajas)

All flights to Madrid arrive at the Airport Barajas (Aeropuerto Barajas). This airport is located about 13 km (8 miles) northeast of Madrid's city centre. The airport provides you with four Terminals. Taking a taxi the travel to downtown Madrid from the airport will take you no longer than 20 minutes when the traffic is normal that means no rush hour time.

You even have the option to travel by Metro directly from the Terminals 1 and 2. Simply take the Metro line no. 8 and then change into Metro line no. 10 heading for Madrid's city center at Nuevos Ministerios station.

Last but not least you can always take the Bus from the airport to town. It's the no. 200 which will get you as far as Avenida Americas Metro station, from there you might want to change again heading further downtown.
